Details

But it's not only about the techniques. It's about changing the way we look at a case.

It's about finding bone where it doesn't exist.

It's about searching for all the intra-oral landmarks in each jaw, and the anatomy will tell you the rest.

It's about avoiding digital guides, regenerations, sinus lifts, bone substitutes, membranes and hours of planning in front of a computer.

It's about thinking like a surgeon with dentistry skills, instead of thinking like a dentist with some surgery skills.
